

Photo Source:
<http://www.realbeauty.com/skin/face/makeup-department-store-beauty-counter#slide-12>

A Quick Message

By Glitter

When I was a little girl, my mother would let me play in her makeup for hours, as long as I put everything back in its place. I would ask my family members if they wanted their make-up done. I charged them a penny for every minute. When I found out there was a school that could teach me how to do spa services correctly and prepare me for a career in the spa industry, make-up artistry, and wide variety of career choices to pursue, I was ecstatic.

Today, I am extremely passionate about this industry and what it has to offer. I want to dedicate my entire life making others feel fantastic about themselves. There is nothing I love more than a day filled with hard, quality work and a satisfied clientele. I feel that I have had beyond what is considered advanced, hands on training pertaining to my school. It is my obligation to continue what I have always loved to do.