Sofia Vergara, Yes, We Love You!

Article written by Christine Owens

Who is this woman really? As far as I can tell through my research, what you see is what you get: a beautiful, sexy, funny, dedicated, talented Columbian actress, who is taking the media by storm. You have seen her on the Pepsi commercials and stealing the show on Modern Family. She is also making movies and the camera loves her, as do we all. Why? Well, personally, I love her because she is so honest about herself and says what she feels. What is not to like about being real in Hollywood?

In April, InStyle Magazine featured her on the cover of "The Color Issue." Perfect. Sofia is all about color and fun. Born in Barranquilla, Columbia to a cattle rancher, she was sent to a strict Catholic school, but by 13 years old she already had those long legs and full figure. At 17 years old she made her first Pepsi commercial, modeled, and later married her high school sweetheart and had a son, Monolo. Two years later the marriage ended and she moved to Bogota to be a dentist. Hmmm, we are very happy that she dropped that and moved to Miami to work as a model and on television.

Some things you may not know about Sofia: she is a natural blond but colors her hair for her Latino image; she has a Kmart spring collection that you can see on her Facebook page [see the links below]; she is turning 40 in July; her son Monolo features videos about his life with "mom" [video below]; she appeared in the movies The Smurfs, New Year's Eve, and The Three Stooges; she has her size 4 dresses altered to fit her size 2 waist (really) and forces herself to work out every weekday at 5am with her coach, Gunnar Peterson for an hour; and says "I try to eat healthy from Monday through Thursday, but by Thursday night I am done." See Monolo's funny video below showing Sofia's Secret Diet.

Her life has not been easy or all fun and games. She is divorced and a single mom. Her brother was kidnapped and murdered in 1998 causing Sofia to get her family out of Columbia and here in the United States for a safer life. In 2002 Sofia went through treatment for thyroid cancer and tells David A. Keeps [InStyle] "Things can change your life in a second." So she prefers to live in the moment. Steve Levitan, co-creator of Modern Family says, "At parties, she's the wild one yelling and dancing and doing shots of tequila. That love of life, that willingness to let go, bursts through in her physical comedy." And, it is why we love her, for all the right reasons.
